

FOCUS ON GREEN PROCUREMENT

- 9 Going for green
Public sector entities green their IT, utilizing trends such as virtualization, thin clients and cloud computing.
by Anthony Wright
- 12 Light up your savings
Advances in lighting technology offer you the opportunity to save 30-40 percent.
by Susan Bloom
- 15 Buying wood and paper
A sound procurement policy for buying wood and paper sends a message to the global marketplace for forestry products that helps level the playing field for Canada. Here are some suggestions for building such a policy.
by Avrim Lazar
- 17 Driving sustainable transit
The Toronto Transit Commission has introduced "green" procurement considerations to its purchasing decisions and implemented its new policy. The TTC is actively seeking to share its experience authorities, with the expectation that sharing knowledge will assist the continued development of environmental standards.
by Grant Waddell

OPINIONS

- 6 PUBLISHER'S PROFILE
Glenn Ackerley
Featuring Glenn Ackerley, a lawyer well versed in procurement and the newly appointed chairman of the Toronto Construction Association.
- 7 SUSTAINABLE PROCUREMENT
Make it an "agreement"
Larry Berglund discusses how supply management can be the conduit for many organizations to contribute ideas and influence products and services that are designed with the environment in mind.
- 20 LEGAL NOTES
Basics
Pierre Beaulé takes you back to basics covering the general legal principles that govern tender calls and contract awards.

THE 2010

LEADERSHIP IN PUBLIC PROCUREMENT

AWARDS

Call for
NOMINATIONS

Share your expertise with your colleagues.

Nominate your team or someone that you know.

Summit magazin
in collaboration with the Canadian Public Procurement Council
presents two awards for your consideration

LEADERSHIP IN PUBLIC PROCUREMENT AWARD

LEADERSHIP IN
GREEN PROCUREMENT AWARD

Nomination forms are available now at www.summitconnects.com